FOREWORD

Through the years this scene has grown in strength, experience, and service as have we who have followed steadfastly this way. In so growing, many autumn leaves have fallen just as our play things one by one have been taken. Still our individual growth we have to hold. It is without end, like these increasing memories of school that will richly light whatever we begin.

To Mr. Edgar Wells, Jr., English teacher, We, the Senior Class of 1954, dedicate this issue of THE OVERFLOW, with heartfelt thanks for his splendid cooperation and faithful guidance; for his tireless energy and abundant good will.

CLASS HISTORY

In August 1950, seventy-eight eager youngsters entered the high school halls of dear old Grady.

Everything at first seemed so odd and different, but we soon became active in many memorable ways. With Shelby Southerland and Lester Britt as class presidents and Miss Thelma Dilday, Miss Margaret Smith, and Mr. Morton Sills as our able guides, we had a most successful freshman year.

Our sophomore year was filled with more parties as well as adventures for the sixty-six of us that returned. Miss Mary Anna Grady and the grade mothers honored her section with a Christmas party in the homeroom. Mrs. Lillian Swain's section was also favored with a party at the home of Norma Allan Smith. Betty Smith, Jo Ann Grady, Peggy Grady, Shelby Southerland, L. G. Kornegay, Gerald Simmons, Mary Louise Waters, Alfred Thigpen, and Nellie Faye Parker became members of the Beta Club. With Betty and Gerald serving as class presidents along with our guides, Miss Grady and Mrs. Swain, the year happily passed.

A summer filled with work and a little play soon passed too. Fifty-five tan juniors were together again. This year held many pleasant surprises. First among these was picking our class ring, and second, selling magazines. We chose a ring with royal blue sets around which is the name of the school. Before selling magazines, the class was divided in two sides. Betty Smith was leader of one side; L. G. Kornegay, leader of the other. When the sell-race was over, L. G's side had won, and it was given a party by the losers. Our play, "Just Ducky", was a happy success. Before our long awaited Christmas holidays began, we had a merry Christmas party in the home of Lou Gene Smith. Everyone had loads of fun.

Later came the one big thing in 1953 we all had lived for--the Junior-Senior Banquet. It was beautifully given in Hotel Kinston, Kinston, North Carolina on March 27. This colorful event we will never forget or will we forget the work done by Mrs. Alice Davis, our homeroom teacher and excellent guide. It was not long before the ninth month of school ended, and we were at last seniors.

When school opened August 18, there were forty-eight lively and dignified seniors some of which still have sideline chairs on the window side. Everyone was tickled to get away from tobacco and together again. At first we all were in the Battle of the Gnats, but this year will have been filled with greater as well as unforgettable experiences.

After the class officers were elected, we decided to sponsor a square dance every other Wednesday night in our gymnasium with music by the Rhythm 4 plus 1. We have had overflow crowds and good dances. Calling cards, caps an' gowns, and invitations were ordered. Already we have exchanged calling cards. The homeroom will long remember those wild minutes.

Two members of our family, Norma Allan Smith and Edwin Hill, won the Harvest Festival race for king and queen, and they were crowned Mr. and Miss B. F. Grady. Ideas, disagreements, and hands came up many times before we decided about our trip this spring. Plans have been made to leave on May 14 for Washington and from there to New York. We can hardly wait, folks. Names were drawn for our Christmas party which was at Betty Smith's house December 21. Everybody had a wonderful time playing, bunny hopping, eating, and opening presents. We are holding hands, putting heads together, and burning a bit of midnight oil to meet our annual deadline, January 20. It is bound to be good. Still we await our Senior Play, the Junior-Senior Banquet, our Baccalaureate Sermon and white gowns, and Graduation.

With the wonderful help and guidance of Mr. Ralph Gurley and Mr. Edgar Wells, I feel and believe that each one of us has accomplished something of good. What we will do and where we will go in the future is yet to be seen, but I am sure that God will continue to keep everyone on the right track for happiness and success so that one day we will meet again after death.

CLASS PROPHECY

As I sit here studying our Class Day exercises, I can picture our class of '54 through 1964.
Lemuel Harper is now farming. As a side line, he is cutting pulp-wood for a living.
As we look toward Raleigh, we see Bill Herring and Gerald Simmons with Agriculture; L. G. Kornegay with Engineering at State College.
Up at Washington, D. C., we see Edwin Hill as a Counterspy. On the side line he swoons at girls and dreams about Rhonda Fleming.
Down Blizzard and Holmes way, we see Tommie Hill as Chief of Police and on the side line he makes time with a girl.
Woodruff Jackson is nowa five star general in the Navy. He is in Japan with a beautiful Japanese girl.
I can see Douglas Smith at the big P. X. at Fort Jackson, pricing the baby cribs and other essentials.
I see Earl Jones farming with his dad. He has Rose Marie Herring as a sweet attraction.
We see Horace and Keith at a college studying to be agriculture teachers. They have a big band and teach "The Bunny Hop."
I see Lawrence Smith farming with his dad. On the side line he reduces for the new girl that he plans to marry at Pink Hill.
Up at East Carolina Teachers College, we see Leonard Sutton playing football and studying to be a first grade teacher.
Now coaching the basketball team at Albertson, we find our own Oscar Sutton. He is doing a swell job.
Ray Franklin is now the owner of the Cadillac place in Kinston. He has a nice ranch style home in Fairfield where Sarah keeps him company.
Alfred is now the owner of a big Mercury dealership in some town out West. For pastime, he "Dear" hunts and goes fishing.
Donald Wallace is now a life guard at Crystal Beach, White Lake, N. C., and kills bob cats as a hobby.
We see Elwood Walker as the owner of a big Ford firm. As a hobby, he makes time with a redhead.
Living in Fort Bragg is Marie Bishop. She keeps house and rears a family. Her husband is serving his country.
We see Peggy Grady as the editor of "Charm Magazine." She does her own modeling and cares for her three children.
I picture Jo Ann Grady as she starts to college. Later she stops, because she has found the right boy to settle down with and take life easy.
Frances Harper is now telling the story of "Herbert" in the Metropolitan Theater in New York City.
I see Dorothy Rae Herring as she makes her way through East Carolina looking for that glorious little King boy whom she will find, I am sure, in the coming years and settle down to her kingdom.
We see Shirley Herring sporting a '54 Ford from DuPont to her home with a crowd of girls having a wonderful time.
As we look to Washington, D. C., we find Marie and Peggy Ann working with the F. B. I., trying to discover how to keep up with Joe and Darwin.
Over in Kinston we find Margie Jones as a student nurse, hoping that Alfred will soon be a patient.
Down in Deep Run, we see Joyce Lanier and Maxine Quinn as telephone operators.
Hughlene Murray is now the editor of the Sarecta Times and also Mrs. Douglas Smith.
Ruth Ann Page is now Bobby's private secretary. They are running a garage down at Sarecta, North Carolina.
Lois Outlaw is now in Washington, D. C., working with the F. B. I.
Shirley Ann Powell is now keeping house and looking after J. B. down at La Grange, North Carolina.
Next, I see in the future, It's a bird! No-It's a plane! No-It's that Shelby Jean Southerland in that new light blue convertible Ford! She's on her way to DuPont to that favorite job of her life time.
As I look in the far off distance, I see that sweet-talking Betty Smith keeping the home fires burning and watching little Bill Brown, Jr. She has forgotten all about her Doctor's degree, but is making time just as well.
Up at Peace College, we find Irene Joyce Smith studying to be an attractive secretary.
Then I see our dignified Nellie Faye Parker. She is at East Carolina Teachers College flirting with all the boys.
Up at King's Business College, we find Mavis Sutton studying to be a secretary in some big company down at Albertson, North Carolina.
We now see Norma Allan Smith up at East Carolina Teachers College studying the production of Oates.
As we look at the Sylvester Tew Plantation, at Albertson, N. C., we find sitting behind a big executive's desk, Miss Lou Gene Smith.
We find over at T. A. Turner's, Dorothy Tyndall, typing at the main desk. She is doing very well at this and has found a good career for herself.
Next, I see Mary Louise Waters keeping house for the guy she's been waiting for so long, Mack Taylor. She finally persuaded him to ask the question, and Wow!, but did he get a quick answer!
I now see Nellie Brown Wilkins sitting on the knee of an F. B. I. agent in Washington, where she is working as a secretary.
Last, but not least, I see Christine living in a neat little house, but that doesn't look like Williams on the mail box. It's Alphin, her old school day sweetheart.
As for myself, I hope to go to college and take up service work in Diesel. I believe that my future will prove interesting and great in the years to come.
